The Voice of the Realms — Michael King

Raise your tankards high and lend your ears, good folk of the Realm—Michael King joins the Mesa County Fantasy Faire as one of our newest Voices of the Realms, bringing power, presence, and pure theatrical joy to every stage he graces.

With over a decade of stagecraft experience, Michael blends emotional depth, sharp wit, and a commanding performance style that transforms even the smallest moment into a story worth remembering. Currently appearing as the Foreman in Grand Valley Community Theater’s reimagining of 12 Angry Men, he continues to showcase remarkable nuance, strength, and artistic versatility.

Michael’s journey across the stage has carried him through productions such as Hair, Pippin, Annie Get Your Gun, Carrie, Thoroughly Modern Millie, and many more—each role a testament to his dedication, adaptability, and love for the craft.

A graduate of the prestigious Appomattox Regional Governor’s School for the Performing Arts and Technology, he trained extensively in acting, directing, playwriting, stagecraft, and vocal performance. This foundation fuels the creative discipline, collaborative spirit, and magnetic presence he brings to every performance.

Michael also carries deep gratitude for the mentors who shaped his artistic path—an appreciation that speaks to his humility and heart as much as his talent.

We are honored to welcome him to the Mesa County Fantasy Faire. When Michael King steps onto the stage, the Realm listens—and the magic begins.
